- Any health care professional authorized to enter information into your child's medical record.
- All departments and units of Children's Hospital.
- Any member of a volunteer group we allow to help your child while he/she is provided care.

We reserve the right to change our practices and to make the new provisions effective for all protected health information we maintain. We will post a copy of the current notice in each of Children's Hospital's entities and on our Web site.

We will not use or disclose your child's health information without your authorization, except as described in this notice.

We are Required by Law to:

Understanding Your Child's Health Record

Each time your child visits the hospital, physician or other health care provider, a record of your child's visit is made. Typically, this record contains symptoms, examination and test results, diagnoses, treatment and a plan for future care or treatment. This information, often referred to as a health or medical record, serves as a:

- Basis for planning care and treatment.
- Means of communication among the many health professionals who contribute to your child's care.
- Legal document describing the care received.
- Means by which you or your child or a third-party payer can verify that services billed were actually provided.
- Tool in educating health professionals.
- Source of data for medical research.
- Source of information for public health officials charged with improving the health of the nation.
- Source of data for facility planning and marketing.
- Tool with which we can assess and continually work to improve the care we render and the outcomes we achieve.

How We May Use and Disclose Medical Information About Your Child

The following categories describe different ways we use and disclose medical information. For each category of uses and disclosures, we will explain what we mean and give some examples. Not every use or disclosure in a category will be listed. All of the ways we are permitted to use and disclose information will fall within one of the identified categories.

■ For Treatment – We may disclose medical information about your child to doctors, nurses, technicians, residents, medical students or other personnel who are involved in taking care of your child. For example, a doctor treating your child for a broken leg may need to know if your child has diabetes since diabetes may slow the healing process. In addition, the doctor may need to tell the dietitian if your child has diabetes so we can arrange for appropriate meals. Different departments of the hospital, as well as the different entities, may also share medical information about your child in order to coordinate the different things your child needs, such as prescriptions, lab work, X-rays and follow-up care. We may disclose medical information about your child to people and entities outside Children's Hospital who may be involved in your child's ongoing medical care.

■ For Payment – We may use and disclose medical information about your child so that the treatment and services your child receives may be billed to and payment may be collected from you, the Medicaid program, insurance company or a third party. For example, we may need to give your child's health plan information about a surgery your child received so the health plan will pay us or reimburse you for the surgery. We may tell your health plan about a treatment your child is going to receive to obtain prior approval or to determine whether your health plan will cover the treatment. We also may disclose medical information about your child to entities outside Children's Hospital who may need this information to bill for services they provided your child.

■ For Health Care Operations – We may use and disclose medical information about your child for Children's Hospital operations. These uses and disclosures are necessary to operate the entity and promote quality care. For example, we may use medical information to review our treatment and services and to evaluate the performance of our staff. We may also combine medical information about many patients to decide what additional services we should offer, what services are not needed, and whether certain new treatments are effective. We may disclose information to doctors, nurses, technicians, medical students and other personnel for review and learning purposes. We may disclose medical information about your child to entities outside of Children's Hospital for certain health care operations. We may also combine the medical information we have with medical information from other hospitals to compare how we are doing and see where we can make improvements in care and services. We may remove information that identifies your child from this set of medical information so that others may use it to study health care and health care delivery without learning patient-specific information.

■ As Required by Law – We will disclose medical information about your child when required to do so by federal, state or local law. For example, we are required to report all burns, gunshot wounds, closed head injuries, etc.

■ Business Associates – We may disclose medical information to other persons or organizations, known as business associates, who provide services on our behalf under contract. For example, a copying service we use when making copies of your health record. When these services are contracted, we may disclose your health information to our business associate so that they can perform the job we've asked them to do and bill you or your third-party payer for services rendered. To protect your health information, however, we require the business associate to appropriately safeguard your information.

■ Treatment Alternatives – We may use and disclose medical information to tell you or your child about or recommend possible treatment options or alternatives of interest.

■ Health-related Benefits and Services – We may use and disclose medical information to tell you or your child about health-related benefits or services of interest.

■ Whiteboards – We may disclose your child's health information on whiteboards to facilitate patient care.

■ Appointment Reminders – We may use and disclose medical information to contact you or your child as a reminder that your child has an appointment for treatment or medical care.

■ Hospital Directory – We may include certain limited information about your child in the hospital directory while your child is a patient. This information may include your child's name and location in the hospital, unless you or your child object. The directory information may also be released to people who contact the hospital and ask for your child by name. This is so your child's family, friends and clergy may visit your child in the hospital.

■ Individuals Involved in Your Child's Care or Payment for Your Child's Care – We may release medical information about your child to a friend, family member or any other person identified by you as being involved in your child's medical care or who is involved in the payment for your child's care. We will only release this information if 1) you agree to the disclosure, 2) you are given the opportunity to object to such a disclosure and you do not, or 3) if, in our professional judgment, it would be common practice that it is in your child's best interest to allow a person to act on their behalf, as in the case of picking up a filled prescription or medical supplies. In addition, we may disclose medical information about your child to an entity assisting in a disaster relief effort so that your family can be notified about your child's condition, status and location.

■ Registration and Waiting Areas – We may disclose your child's health information on registration/sign-in sheets, in call outs to facilitate services in waiting rooms, and during the overhead paging process.

■ Research – Under certain circumstances, we may use and disclose medical information about your child for research purposes. For example, a research project may involve comparing the health and recovery of all patients who received one medication to those who received another for the same condition. All research projects, however, are subject to a specific approval process which evaluates a proposed research project and its use of medical information, trying to balance the research needs with patients' need for privacy of their medical information.

■ Fund-raising Activities – We may use and disclose demographic information (names, addresses, phone numbers, dates of birth, gender, other contact information, age, insurance status, treating physician, outcome information, dates of service and department of service information) about you or your child for our fund-raising activities. We will only release this contact information and will not release any information about your child's medical condition. If you do not want to be contacted for fund-raising efforts, you have the right to opt out of such communications.

■ To Avert a Serious Threat to Health or Safety – We may use and disclose medical information about your child when necessary to prevent a serious threat to your child's health and safety or the health and safety of the public or another person. Any disclosure would only be to someone able to help prevent the threat.

■ Organ Procurement Organizations – Consistent with applicable law, we may disclose health information to organ procurement organizations or other entities engaged in the procurement, banking or transplantation of organs for the purpose of tissue donation and transplant.

■ Workers' Compensation – We may disclose health information as authorized by law to workers' compensation insurers responsible for paying for your child's health care.

■ Public Health Activities – We may disclose medical information about your child for public health activities. These activities generally include the following:

- To prevent or control disease, injury or disability.
- To report births or deaths.
- To report reactions to medications or problems with products.
- To notify people of recalls of products they may be using.
- To notify a person who may have been exposed to a disease or may be at risk for contracting or spreading a disease or condition.
- To notify the appropriate government authority if we suspect a patient has been the victim of abuse, neglect or domestic violence. We will make this disclosure if you agree or when required or authorized by law.

■ Health Oversight Activities – We may disclose medical information to a health oversight agency for activities authorized by law. Oversight activities that are necessary for the government to monitor the health care system, government programs and compliance with civil rights laws include audits, investigation and inspections.

■ Lawsuits and Disputes – If your child is involved in a lawsuit or a dispute, we may disclose medical information about your child in response to a court or administrative order. We may also disclose medical information about your child in response to a subpoena, discovery request, or other lawful process by someone else involved in the dispute, but only if efforts have been made to tell you about the request so you may obtain an order protecting the information requested.

■ Law Enforcement – We may release medical information if asked to do so by a law enforcement official:

- In response to a court order, subpoena, warrant, summons or similar process.
- To help identify or locate a suspect, fugitive, material witness or missing person.
- In response to inquiries as to the victim of a crime if, under certain limited circumstances, we are unable to obtain the person's agreement.
- In response to inquiries regarding a death we believe may be the result of criminal conduct.
- In response to inquiries regarding criminal conduct at the hospital.
- In emergency circumstances to report a crime, the location of the crime or victims, or the identity, description or location of the person who committed the crime.

■ Coroners, Medical Examiners and Funeral Directors – We may release medical information to a coroner or medical examiner as necessary, for example, to identify a deceased person or determine the cause of death. We may also release medical information about patients to funeral directors as necessary to carry out their duties.

■ National Security and Intelligence Activities – We may release medical information about your child to authorized federal officials for intelligence, counter-intelligence, and other national security activities by law.

■ Protective Services for the President and Others – We may disclose medical information about your child to authorized federal officials so they may provide protection to the President, other authorized persons or foreign heads of state, or to conduct special investigations.

■ Correctional Institutions – We may release medical information about your child to a correctional institution or law enforcement official if your child is an inmate of a correctional institution or under the custody of a law enforcement official. This release would be necessary 1) for the institution to provide your child with health care, 2) to protect your child's health and safety or the health and safety of others or 3) for the safety and security of the correctional institution.

Other Uses of Medical Information

Other uses and disclosures of medical information not described by this notice or the laws that apply to us will be made only with your authorization. Uses and disclosures that require an authorization are patient request, attorney requests and applications for disability. Authorizations are also required for (i) most uses and disclosures of psychotherapy notes, (ii) uses and disclosures of protected health information for marketing purposes and (iii) disclosures that constitute a sale of protected health information. There are other incidences where an authorization might be required. If you provide us authorization to use or disclose medical information about your child, you may revoke that authorization, in writing, at any time. If you revoke your authorization, we will no longer use or disclose medical information for the reasons covered by your written authorization. You understand that we are unable to take back any disclosures we have already made with your authorization, and we are required to retain records of the care provided.

Rights Regarding Medical Information About Your Child

■ Right to Inspect and Copy – You have the right to inspect and copy medical information that may be used to make decisions about your child's care. Usually, this includes medical and billing records. This does not include psychotherapy records.

You must submit your request to inspect and copy medical information that may be used to make decisions about your child in writing to the Medical Records Custodian. If you request a copy of the information, we may charge a fee for the costs of copying, mailing or other supplies associated with your request.

We may deny your request to inspect and copy medical information under certain circumstances. If you are denied access to medical information, you may request that the denial be reviewed. A licensed health care professional chosen by the hospital will review your request and the denial. The person conducting the review will not be the person who denied your request. We will comply with the outcome of the review.

■ Right to Amend – If you feel that medical information we have about your child is incorrect or incomplete, you may ask us to amend the information. You have the right to request an amendment for as long as the information is kept by or for the hospital.

To request an amendment, your request must be in writing and submitted to the Medical Records Custodian. In addition, you must provide a reason that supports your request for amendment.

We may deny your request for an amendment if it is not in writing or does not include a reason to support the request. In addition, we may deny your request if you ask us to amend information that is:

- Not created by us, unless the person or entity that created the information is no longer available to make the amendment.
- Not part of the medical information kept by or for a Children's Hospital entity.
- Not part of the information which you would be permitted to inspect and copy under the law.
- Accurate and complete.

■ Right to an Accounting of Disclosures – You have the right to request an accounting of disclosures, which is a list of certain medical information disclosures made about your child.

We are required by law to keep a list of certain disclosures. You may submit a request for such list in writing to the Medical Records Custodian. Your request must state a time period, which may not be longer than six years and may not include dates before April 14, 2003. The first list of disclosures you request within a 12-month period will be free. We may charge for the costs of providing additional lists. We will notify you of the cost involved, and you may choose to withdraw or modify your request before any costs are incurred.

■ Right to Request Restrictions – You have the right to request a restriction or limitation on the medical information we use or disclose about your child for treatment, payment or health care operations. You also have the right to request a limit on the medical information we disclose about your child to someone who is involved in your child's care or the payment for care, like a family member or friend.

If you have paid for services out-of-pocket, in full, and you request that Children's Hospital not disclose those services to a health plan, Children's will accommodate your request, except where Children's is required by law to make such a disclosure.

We are not required to agree to your request (except for requests described above relating to services paid out-of-pocket in full). If we do agree to a requested restriction, we will comply with your request unless the information is needed to provide emergency treatment.

To request restrictions, you must make your request in writing to the Privacy Officer. In your request, you must tell us 1) what information you want to limit, 2) whether you want to limit our use, disclosure or both and 3) to whom you want the limits to apply.
